

LEADING DESIGN CONSULTANT FOR THE FOOD INDUSTRY TEAMS UP WITH THE OWNERS OF BAGEL BOSS TO DEVELOP NEW GLATT KOSHER EATERY CONCEPT

(Roslyn, NY) Deli Boss, the new venture from the owners of Bagel Boss is a 1,000 sq ft state-of-the-art Glatt Kosher eatery located in Roslyn. This new venture is the result of a collaborative effort between leading design consultant for the food industry, Designing Hospitality, and owners Harvey Daniels and Randy Rosner.

Designing Hospitality, a division of J.Kings Food Service Professionals, is a unique firm that combines all areas of the food service industry including interior design, equipment selection, specification and equipment layout. Deli Boss is a great example of how this firm immerses itself in the collaboration with its customers.

For this project, owners Harvey Daniels and Randy Rosner wanted the establishment to be Glatt Kosher, which is the highest of Kosher Standards. Tom Wyman, Designing Hospitality's Design Director and Equipment Specialist, worked hand in hand with the Rabbi on staff, ensuring that the uncrating, setting up and starting up of the equipment, kept within the Glatt Kosher Standards.

While Tom was focusing on the equipment, Maryellen Ball, Designing Hospitality's Lead Interior Designer worked with owners Harvey and Randy to create the open kitchen plan with the modern/innovative feel they were looking for without breaking Randy and Harvey's budget. They were even able to incorporate the specialty pastrami box, Combi Oven, and innovative granite hot table they had seen at Whole Foods without going over!

Throughout the entire design and construction process, one Designing Hospitality team member was on site every day, working hand in hand with contractor Joe Cole of American Building Contractors and Architect Mark Mancini of Mancini Architecture PLLC to ensure the job was running smoothly. This enabled any questions or issues receive immediate attention, ensuring the project's completion on time.

(continued)

At the completion of the project, Deli Boss Owners Harvey and Randy received a binder with all the specs of materials, cut sheets/specs for all the equipment and contacts for the job (contractor, Designing Hospitality, refrigeration, etc.) If needed, all the information needed to make repairs would be in one place

If you are looking for a great kosher meal, or if you are looking for a Glatt Kosher caterer, visit Deli Boss at 390 Willis Ave, Roslyn Heights, NY.

In addition, if you are a local food service business owner who is looking for a firm to work with you to develop your eatery or restaurant business, please contact Tom Wyman of Designing Hospitality at 631-831-1529.

###

About Designing Hospitality

Designing Hospitality is a division of J. Kings Food Service Professionals, and is a leading design consultant for the food industry. Established by J. Kings as another avenue to assist its customer base, Designing Hospitality is a unique firm that combines all areas of the food service industry, including interior design, equipment selection, specification and equipment layouts. Drawing on J. Kings decades of experience, the firm brings an insider's view of what works best for every particular project, making it able to easily and effectively identify and develop innovative design solutions. To learn more about Designing Hospitality, visit www.designinghospitality.com

About Deli Boss

Founded by renowned Bagel Boss owners, Harvey Daniels and Randy Rosner, this new eatery concept offers customers traditional Glatt Kosher meals in a uniquely modern atmosphere. Deli Boss provides customers a wide variety of Glatt Kosher meats, salads and sides. For more information on Deli Boss, please visit www.delibossroslyn.com

